PRESS NOTE

New Delhi-2, the 28th February, 1958

Before the second general elections, 4 all-India or National Political Parties and 12 State Parties were recognised by the Election Commission for the purpose of reserving election symbols for their candidates. The standard adopted for according such recognition was that the candidates set up by a political party at a general election must have polled at least 3 per cent of the total valid votes polled in a general election. For the purpose of recognising a Party as an all-India Party, the votes polled at the preceding general election to the House of the People are taken into account, while the question of recognising a Party as a State Party is decided on the basis of votes polled at the preceding general election to the State Legislative Assembly. The Union Territories of Delhi, Himachal Pradesh, Manipur and Tripura have no Legislative Assemblies. In their cases, therefore, the Election Commission has no other alternative but to recognise State Parties on the basis of the votes polled in the Territory concerned in the preceding general election to the House of the People.

The Election Commission has now reviewed the list of recognised all-India or National Political Parties as also State Parties in the light of the statistics of the poll in the second general elections of 1957. The Commission had originally the intention of making an upward revision of the quantum of electoral support enjoyed by a political party which would entitle it to obtain or retain recognition and of insisting upon a more substantial percentage than three which was adopted initially. The consideration which prevailed upon the Commission to adopt a low percentage initially apply with equal force even at present, however, and no such upward revision has, therefore, been made by the Commission even on this occasion. Most of the political parties contesting elections are still comparatively recently formed and not too well organised. The Commission accordingly feels that some more time should be allowed to them for consolidating their organisation and improving their standing in the eyes of the electorate. The review has, therefore, been made on the basis of the same percentage of three in respect of the votes polled by the candidates set up by a political party as compared to the total votes polled. In calculating this percentage, however, the Commission has considered it necessary and reasonable to ignore the votes polled by any candidate set up by a political party who has failed to poll one-sixth of the valid votes in his constituency and forfeited his deposit as a result. A tendency was observed during the second general elections for some of the smaller political parties to set up candidates even in constituencies where they had no tangible electoral support in a desperate attempt somehow to secure three per cent of the valid votes in the country as a whole or in a particular State, as the case may be. This attitude partly explains the multitude of candidates in particular constituencies which was an unwelcome feature in some parts of the country. This tendency on the part of a political party of setting up candidates in a half-hearted manner merely with the purpose of polling 3 per cent of the votes and thereby obtaining recognition for the Party unnecessarily confuses the voters, inconveniences the other candidates and adds to the administrative difficulties of conducting the elections and the Commission feels that the same should be discouraged. It is for this reason that votes polled by candidates who have forfeited their deposits as a result of their failure to poll one-sixth of the total valid votes in their respective constituencies have been ignored and left out of account in deciding the question of recognition of the political parties which sponsored them.

In the result, the existing four National Parties have retained their recognition and no new Party has been able to earn recognition as a National Party. The percentage of votes polled by the candidates of each of the National Parties in the general elections of 1957 is given below and compared to the corresponding percentage in the first general elections of 1951-52:—

Name of Party	Percentage of votes polled in the 2nd general elections	Percentage of votes polled in the 1st general elections
1. Congress	47.74	45.00
2. Praja-Socialist	8.92	10.6 (Socialist) 5.8 (K. M. P. P.).
3. Communist	8.42	3.3
4. Jan Sangh	4.63	3.1

The position in regard to the State Parties is given below:—

Out of the existing 10 State Parties functioning in the States, other than Andhra Pradesh, and in the Union Territories the Parties mentioned below have retained the recognition already granted to them:—

Bihar.—Jharkhand Party.

Chota-Nagpur Santhal Parganas Janta Party.

Bombay.—Peasants and Workers Party.

All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.

Madhya Pradesh.—Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha.

Orissa.—All-India Gantantra Parishad.

Punjab.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.

Rajasthan.—Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad.

West Bengal.—All-India Forward Block (Marxist).

Himachal Pradesh.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.

As there was no general election to the Legislative Assembly of Andhra Pradesh, covering the whole State, the continuance of the recognition accorded to certain Parties in the State is not being reviewed at this stage. The following existing four Parties will, therefore, continue to enjoy the recognition already granted till a further revision is undertaken on the basis of a State-wide election to the Legislative Assembly of the State:—

Peoples Democratic Front

Peasants and Workers Party

All-India Scheduled Castes Federation

Praja Party

The Parties mentioned below have, however, failed to poll three per cent of the valid votes polled in the State during the last Assembly elections or the elections to the House of the People in the case of the Union Territories. The Commission has, therefore, withdrawn their recognition as State Parties and they will cease to have any symbols reserved for their candidates in future elections:—

Bombay.—Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha.

Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad.

Kerala.—Revolutionary Socialist Party.

Madhya Pradesh.—Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad.
All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.

Mysore.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.
Peasants and Workers Party.

Uttar Pradesh.—Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad.

West Bengal.—Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha.

Delhi.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation.

Tripura.—Tripura Ganatantrik Sangha.

The percentage of votes polled by the candidates of the existing recognised State Parties in the general elections of 1957 is given below:—

Bihar.—Jharkhand Party .. .. (6.70)

Chota-Nagpur Santhal Pargana Janta Party .. .. (6.15)

Bombay.—Peasants and Workers Party .. .. (6.67)

All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. (6.12)

Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha .. .. (0.35)

Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad. .. .. —

Kerala.—Revolutionary Socialist Party .. .. (1.58)

Madhya Pradesh.—Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha .. .. (4.38)

Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad .. .. (2.10)

All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. (0.66)

Mysore.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. (1.25)

Peasants and Workers Party .. .. (0.55)

Orissa.—All-India Gantantra Parishad .. .. (27.04)

Punjab.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. (4.99)

Rajasthan.—Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad .. .. (9.28)

Uttar Pradesh.—Akhil Bharat Ram Rajya Parishad .. .. (0.36)

West Bengal.—All-India Forward Block (Marxist) .. .. (3.91)

Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha .. .. (1.39)

Delhi.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. —

Himachal Pradesh.—All-India Scheduled Castes Federation .. .. (8.57)

The following unrecognised political parties which adopted the procedure laid down by the Commission in its Press Note, dated the 6th June, 1956, are being recognised as State Parties as they have polled more than three per cent of the total votes polled in the respective States. The percentage of votes polled by the candidates of these newly recognised Parties in the second general elections is given below:—

Bombay.—Maha-Gujarat Janta Party .. .. 9.17%

Kerala.—Indian Union Muslim League .. .. 5.01%

Madras.—Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam .. .. 10.59%

Uttar Pradesh.—All-India Socialist Party .. .. 6.34%

Delhi.—Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha .. .. 6.26%

Himachal Pradesh.—United Independent Front .. .. 13.85%

Manipur.—All-India Socialist Party .. .. 11.08%

The All-India Socialist Party and Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha asked for recognition on an all-India basis. As the percentage of votes polled by these two parties at the elections to the House of the People was less than three per cent of the total votes polled, they failed to earn recognition as National Parties. The All-India Socialist Party has, however, been recognised as a State Party in Uttar Pradesh and Manipur on the basis of the votes polled by that Party in the elections to the Legislative Assembly of Uttar Pradesh and to the House of the People from the Union Territory of Manipur, respectively. The Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha has been recognised as a State Party in the Union Territory of Delhi on the basis of votes polled by it in the elections to the House of the People from that Territory.

By order,

P. C. SAXENA, I.A.S.,
Chief Electoral Officer,
Himachal Pradesh.
